Thoughts of Thrift

ABRAHAM LINCOLN said: "Economy is one of the finest and highest virtues. It begins with saving."

GEORGE WASHINGTON said: "Economy makes happy homes and sound nations. Instill it deep."

And many others, before and after the days of these great leaders, have exhorted to thrift and deplored extravagance.

A savings account is the emblem of thrift. This institution will welcome yours.

Howard Bean writes that he is kept busy about his new house, when not at his office. His part of town is quite densely populated, every house with two or more youngsters, white ones, at that, which is usually the reverse in cities like Washington. There, as elsewhere, buying is better than renting, at this time. As to things politic, all sorts of rumors are current, but only those on the inside know just what the facts are.

Preparations are being made to seat 10,000 persons at the Pageant to be held at Los Gatos June 18 and 19. For the benefit of the autoists who are planning to attend the pageant, free parking space will be provided. Also, the Peninsular Railway has agreed to furnish sufficient electric cars to handle the crowd comfortably. The first general rehearsal of "The Californian" took place the other night, and several hundred members of the cast were present.

Campbell High In Annual Festival

The May Festival of 1920 is history. History in the school year book that will long be remembered as a most spectacular and colorful production. This year the school thought to do the big thing, and selected Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird" for this annual occasion. As in the past, a great deal of earnest work has been done and considerable talent has been developed, as well as culture for a taste for better literature, which is the chief aim.

The gorgeous scenery was the brush work of Harry Moore, of San Jose, and added immeasurably to the success of the production and the impression on the patrons.

The direction of the players was supervised by Miss Borsch, assisted by Misses Emerson, Johnson, Sprecher and Ochsner and Mr. Cramer. Mr. Snow and Mr. York were the stage managers.

Of the players, the most talked of is Harold Hyde, leading actor, whose capacity for memory and acting was a marvel to all. His opposite, Irene Toles, made a very attractive little girl. Their parents, Helen Kalas and Fred Heinzen, were much at home in their cabin, where dwelt the real Blue Bird of happiness. About 80 of the students took part in the play, everyone doing his bit in the great story.

The entire performance was a most creditable one to the students and teachers who made such a success possible by their untiring efforts in its preparation.

Exhibition of Supervised Play

The pupils of the Grammar School gave a very good exhibition Tuesday afternoon, of supervised play. The mothers had been invited to be present, and a considerable number responded.

The first part of the program was given by the boys of the entire school divided into groups, each under the leadership of one of the older boys. Each group had an allotted place on the grounds and put in twenty minutes of intensive play, with various games and drills. A squad of eighth grade boys, led by one of their own number, gave a very good exhibition of "setting up" exercises, work for rainy days, when play is impossible.

Following this, the girls of the middle classes exemplified a number of "Rhythmic Games," games played to music, to teach rhythm and harmony of motion, as well as furnishing plenty of exercise.

The visitors then adjourned to the auditorium and witnessed a similar line of play-work given by the primary tots.

Mr. Rodriguez then explained the idea of supervised play and the advantages of more playground paraphernalia. Consolidation of schools will make both possible, as there will be more boys and girls of similar ages to play together, and one well equipped play ground paid for by the several districts, will provide for them all.

The annual business meeting of the Home and School club followed. The secretary, Miss Reese, gave a very interesting report of the work accomplished during the year, notably, the purchase of the moving picture machine, the establishment of a health center in Campbell with a community nurse in the field, the community Christmas tree entertainment, and the equipment of a china cupboard for serving refreshments.

The treasurer's report showed that a total of $314.38 had been raised during the year with a balance on hand June 1, of $12.91.

The nominating committee having failed to secure a president or vice president, Mrs. W. C. Bennett was nominated from the floor, and elected to the first office and Mrs. E. C. Merrill to the second. The nominees reported for secretary, Mrs. F. G. Candee, and treasurer, Mrs. W. I. Merrill, were duly elected. This completed the work of the afternoon, and the meeting was adjourned sine die.

F. R. Glover and wife and the Robt. Glover family will start for Campbell on June 20th.

Rev. Chas. G. Lindemann of San Leandro will speak at the Methodist church Sunday morning. Mr. Lindemann is a fine speaker and comes well recommended. Mrs. Lindemann is a very enthusiastic worker with the young people and is expected to be present also.

Byron J. Silverthorne and wife, formerly of Omro, Wis., have come to live in the C. H. Whitman home. Mr. Silverthorne, a cousin of Mr. Whitman, has accepted a position in the hardware store. Mrs. Ethel Davis and sons who have spent the winter in the Whitman home, have moved into the M. J. Wilson house on Campbell avenue.

Warm Weather Specials

As warm weather will bring ants, ant powder will be in demand. Ask for Driver's Non-poisonous Ant Powder. It is perfectly safe for you, but it is death for the ants. The special price is 20c.

Warm days, too, will wake up the flies. Swat them with a Rubber Fly-swatter; which has the advantages that it is durable, will not mar the furniture, and that it can be sterilized in hot water. For your encouragement, remember that every time you swat one fly, you swat a million unborn ones.

Among other things, warm weather will produce an added appetite for acid fruits, and for bottled fruit juices. There are the new-crop Valencia oranges, at 60c and at 70c. Then there is Pineapple juice, Pinebrosia, at 50c; and loganberry juice, Loju, at 40c; and the well known Welch's Grape Juice, also at 40c.

And for a light, warm-weather breakfast, try Kellogg's new product, Roasted Corn Krisp. This resembles Post Toasties, is better, if anything, and sells at two packages for 25c. However, is a special introductory offer. Fruit and poultry food water. No salt.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

AID INJURED COASTERS

While First-Class Scout Fred Turton and Tenderfoot Dwight Scoville of Troop No. 7, White Plains, N. Y., were on a hike they were given the opportunity to show their knowledge of first aid.

As the scouts walked over the hills they witnessed the running into a tree of a 12-foot flexible flyer with its occupants, three men of Scarsdale, all bankers. One of the men hit the tree full force, being made unconscious. Another skidded on his left side for some distance on the sharp ice, his left leg being broken by coming into contact with a tree, his left ear being almost cut off and receiving a black eye. The third man was not hurt very severely.

Scouts Turton and Scoville immediately ran to the victims and demonstrated their knowledge of first aid. Scout Turton carried the unconscious man on a sleigh to the golf clubhouse, where he finally brought him to with the use of resuscitation methods. Scout Scoville in the meanwhile helped the other two men by the use of bandages, etc. The injured men were deeply appreciative of the efforts of the boys and have become firm believers in scouting.

BOY SCOUTS GOVERN A CITY.

The fathers of the city of White Plains, N. Y., and the council of Boy Scouts is an interesting practical lesson in government. "Mayor" Leonard Kerler said afterward:

"This would be my program if I were mayor of my city:

"I would urge playgrounds—plenty of them, places where boys could play without getting into mischief. I would have instructors, too, to teach the kids to play right.

"I would have free gymnastics and swimming pools. If boys could swim and they wanted to, they wouldn't get into trouble along other lines.

"Then I'd build a big municipal yacht harbor, where the boys could canoe and learn all about boats and the sea.

"I'd plant trees on all the streets, and let the boy scouts care for them. And I'd plant all the barren hills to forests. Then the other boys and the scouts could learn all about the woods, and trails and squirrels and animals and birds close at home.

"Then I'd try to get everybody to help everybody else—like us scouts, to do a 'good turn daily.' You see, that'd make my city about the best in the whole world."

SCOUTMASTERSHIP.

Three thousand new scoutmasters have recently accepted commissions.

Troop leadership is a new experience to them. It can be a wonderful experience. In it is a call for the thing that makes a great captain of soldiers. In it is a call for certain qualities of fatherhood; fatherhood that develops resource in its boyhood; that neither neglects and ignores on the one hand nor shields and mollifies on the other.

In it is the brotherhood of outdoors men—something in which the span of a slightly older life overlaps and splices into the span of somewhat younger lives.

But as these qualities are applied in scouting, troop leadership is a new experience. There isn't a word, except scoutmastership, which conveys the flavor exactly. Captain, dad, pal, guide, comrade, teacher, all these relationships develop attributes of the troop leader—none of them embodies the new blend of masculine experience that awaits one as a boy scoutmaster.

SCOUTS' INTERNATIONAL MEET.

"A unique event in the history of the scout movement will be staged at Olympia next summer from July 30 to August 7, when the Boy Scouts' International Jamboree will be celebrated," says James E. West, chief scout executive.

"This Jamboree will include demonstrations of scouting and woodcraft activities, scout handicrafts exhibit, a Boy Scout zoo, international competitions for the world's scout championship and 'grand displays' twice daily in the arena. The Jamboree is being organized under the direction of Lieutenant General Baden-Powell."

Every troop of Boy Scouts of America is urged to bring at least one pet along with it. The scenic displays will illustrate firefighting, ambulance work, physical training, trekking, bridge building, etc. There will also be individual competitions.

"These reformers are knocking the bottom out of everything."

"Yes, I suppose they will soon be trying to shut up the theaters for maintaining lobbies on the ground floor."—Baltimore American.

YOUTHS ACCUSED OF BOOTLEGGING

Liquor Obtained by Night Raids on Cellars of Claremont Homes—Cache Made in Hills

Berkeley—Six youths, members of families in the fashionable Claremont district, have been apprehended by the police and have confessed to being the principals in a bootlegging conspiracy that has entailed the disposition of more than $110,000 worth of spirituous liquors. The liquor was obtained by night raids upon cellars of homes in the Claremont district.

The boys range in age from 15 to 18 years. Their names were not made public by the police and none of them have been charged with a formal complaint. They are members of prominent Claremont families.

The police began a search for liquor thieves several weeks ago when C. C. Hillis, 2833 Ashby avenue, complained that his home had been burglarized and liquor worth $200 taken. His loss included five bottles of whisky, one demijohn of brandy and four bottles of wine. He said the cellar of his home had been raided while the family was out of the city.

A second complaint came from Edward Cooper, 2933 Russell street, who reported the loss of one bottle of whisky, one bottle of gin and one bottle of wine. E. J. Snider, 6426 Regent street, reported that his home had been robbed of 50 quarts of wine. A number of liquor thefts were reported from other homes in the vicinity.

Suspicion fell upon the six boys when they remained away from their homes one night. Their excuse was that the automobile in which they were riding had broken down and kept them from reaching home. Later they were traced to a rendezvous in the hills back of the Claremont Hotel, where it was discovered they had cached the liquor until either they sold or drank it.

The boys were not locked up by the police, but were allowed to return to their homes. It has not yet been decided, according to Chief of Police August Vollmer, whether they will be charged and sent to the Detention Home.

1,500 TEACHERS IN STATE QUIT POSTS IN YEAR

Sacramento—Nearly 1,500 California teachers have resigned from the public schools within 12 months, according to Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. "The shortage is most acute," said Wood, "who added that it probably would be necessary to close some of the country schools later in the year because of lack of teachers."

PROBLEM OF GOOD HIGHWAYS

Becoming One of Increasing Importance Because of Changes in Methods of Travel.

The road problem of the country is becoming one of ever-increasing importance, largely because of the changes in methods of travel which enable the city man to reach farther and farther into the country district. He does this first from a business or economic standpoint, and, second, from a pleasure-seeking standpoint. In an exactly similar manner, the farmer is getting better and better roads. They enable him to get to the city markets with his produce, whether that produce may be something requiring frequent trips, such as milk to a creamery, garden truck to market, or staple products to be hauled in their proper season. The better the roads, the cheaper he can haul his produce and the quicker he can do so, resulting in a saving of time, and the better choice he has of market conditions.

ESSENTIAL POINTS OF ROADS

Concrete Highways Reduce Pull, Increase the Load and Shorten Time of Delivery.

Concrete roads reduce the pull, increase the load and shorten the time—three essential points in modern road construction. With the quality of permanence added, the price paid becomes an investment instead of a loss.

BEST FOR MARKETING CROPS

Farmers Enabled to Haul Produce When Prices Are Highest If Highways Are Improved.

Good roads give a wider choice of time for marketing crops. If roads were kept in condition to permit travel and hauling at all times and in all kinds of weather, farmers would not have to rush their produce to market in seasons of good roads, but could haul it when prices were highest and when their crops did not demand attention.

1 KILLED, 3 HURT BY WILD AUTO

Truck Catches Men Crawling Out of Manhole on Grant Avenue Hill

San Francisco—One man was instantly killed and three others seriously injured May 26 at Bush street and Grant avenue, when a loaded motor truck driven by Richard O'Brien, 3280 Twenty-third street, dashed down Grant avenue when the brakes failed to work.

Dead:

Marshall T. Jones, Fruitvale.

Injured:

Fred Armsteld, New Harbor Hotel; internal injuries. Walter Ward, 2031 Fifty-seventh avenue, Oakland; crushed leg, internal injuries. Samuel Madison, internal injuries.

O'Brien said he pulled out of Grant avenue and Pine street and as he started down the Grant avenue hill the brakes failed to hold. O'Brien shouted warning to passing motorists.

Jones and his companions, who are employed by the Pacific Telephone Company, were working in a manhole on Bush street. Ward and Armsteld climbed up and before they could warn Jones the truck came upon them, crushing Jones against the manhole and running them down. O'Brien told the police he turned into Bush street to follow the traffic. He said the truck nearly overturned as he rounded the corner.

Ward and Armsteld were taken to the Harbor Emergency Hospital. Madison was picked up by a passing motorist and taken to a private hospital.

CAPITALIST IS CHARGED WITH FRAUD ATTEMPT

San Luis Obispo Man Files Suit Against Wealthy Financier

San Luis Obispo—Sensational charges were made in a suit filed May 25 by Edward Wineman, wealthy landowner and financier of this city, against Clarence D. Hillman, capitalist of Pasadena and owner of the Estrella ranch in this county. Kay McKay, D. J. Walsh, Arthur C. R. Becker, et al. In the complaint Wineman charges that Hillman, McKay, Walsh and Becker have defrauded him of a mortgage on the Estrella ranch secured by a $400,000 note of Hillman's.

The complaint alleges that on March 20, Mr. and Mrs. Wineman were in San Francisco, and that they were persuaded by Hillman and his associates to go with them to Seattle, Wash., where they were to investigate a certain timber tract of 2,700 acres near Olympia, with the object of purchasing it. While they were there, it alleges, the defendants secured the signature of Mrs. Wineman to a blank form, telling her that it was an uncompleted form of satisfaction of mortgage and that they could not pay the $400,000 indebtedness to Mr. Wineman unless Mrs. Wineman signed the instrument and left it with her husband.

Wineman came to this county, where he filed suit to have the transaction declared null and void and praying the court to decree that Wineman and his wife are still the owners of the promissory note and mortgage.

With the filing of the complaint a restraining order has been issued by the Superior Court, hearing on which will come up June 1.

LEVI P. MORTON WILL BEQUEATH $10,000,000

Washington—An estate estimated at $10,000,000 is disposed of in the will of Levi P. Morton, former vice-president of the United States, which was filed in the Federal District Court here for probate. The document was executed June 29, 1910, and was modified by codicils of March 30, 1911; June 4, 1911, and June 24, 1911. Morton died recently at his home near Poughkeepsie, N. L., at the age of 96 years. Money and personal effects are variously divided among members of Morton's family and servants, either as cash bequests, or held in trust by the trustees for annual distribution.

BATHING RESORT FOR BALD-HEADED STATESMEN

Washington—Bare legs and scanty one-piece bathing suits will be permitted this summer at Chesapeake Bay, the capital's seashore resort. Officials May 25 agreed to disregard as precedents the prohibitory orders issued at Coney Island and Atlantic City against daring bathing costumes. "It's silly to put the ban on bare legs," they said, "and if any of the girls want to cut the high cost of dressing the police won't say a word."

Sacramento—According to W. Egilbert, one of the largest rice growers in California, there will be about the same acreage planted to rice in California this year as last season, and while the water shortage is likely to be acute its distribution and an absence of waste will see the rice planter through.

He went to the home of his mother at Landsay, Tulare county, entered the room where his wife and her sister were and began firing a revolver, the police say. When he had fired all but one of the cartridges in his pistol, wounding his wife three times and Miss Bird once, he turned his weapon upon himself, the officers declared. Mrs. Miller's injuries are serious.

PROFITEERING IN WOOL IS CHARGE

Company's Gain From Sales Said to Have Been Thirty-five Per Cent

New York—The American Woolen Company was charged with profiteering in an indictment returned here May 26 by the Federal Grand Jury.

With the American Woolen Company of New York were indicted the American Woolen Company of Boston and William M. Wood, president of both companies.

The first count in the indictment charged the company with the sale on January 7, 1920, of 79 yards of cloth, which cost $2.25 a yard, for $3.67½ a yard. Another count alleges that a piece of cloth which cost $1.62 a yard was sold on January 12, 1920, for $3.25 a yard.

It developed, Assistant District Attorney H. A. Smyth said, that the company was receiving 35 per cent profit above cost, although Wood claimed the profit proposed by the company for its 1920 business was 12½ per cent. The total amount of profits which the company was realizing, he said, exceeded "on an average from 300 to 400 per cent those of 1919."

The Lever act was declared constitutional as a war measure, in an opinion handed down by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the case of C. A. Weed & Co., Buffalo, clothiers, charged with profiteering.

Washington—The Supreme Court was asked May 26 by the Government to expedite a decision on appeals from Federal Court decrees in Colorado, holding unconstitutional portions of the Lever act designed to prevent profiteering. The proceedings grew out of injunctions granted the A. T. Lewis & Son Dry Goods Company enjoining enforcement of the statute.

"Some Federal courts which have passed upon the legislation in question have upheld its constitutionality, while others have ruled adversely," the Government's motion said. The result is much confusion and uncertainty, to the embarrassment of the Government and the public.

SUGAR HELD FOR PRICE RISE, BOARD IS TOLD

New York—The American sugar business is in the hands of three or four persons there is a big "invisible" supply of the commodity somewhere in the United States and 1,000,000 tons of the cane product are stored in Cuba for a higher price, were cardinal facts in the testimony of witnesses May 26 before the Lusk joint executive committee determining the influence of high prices on social unrest.

A flat statement that American banks had lent $250,000,000 to Cuban sugar concerns "for holding sugar," made by one of the witnesses, lost much of its force when the testifier admitted he could not swear to the loan as a fact.

George H. Finlay, sugar broker at 82 Wall street, admitted "there is a very large invisible supply in this country, very much larger than it has even been at any time in the past." He, too, rapped the Federal Administration for inaction on the Cuban government offer of 6½-cent sugar, now selling at 25 to 30 cents a pound.

As remedies for the present situation, the witness recommended 90-day rationing, a periodical fixing of price, regardless of cost, and a cut down on candy eating.

COLOMBIA MINES ATTRACT ATTENTION

A story of untold wealth in the platinum mines of Colombia are related here by Lieutenant M. V. Campbell, formerly attached to the United States Marines, who has just returned from the South American republic.

"Platinum was selling for $3 a pound down there 100 years ago," said Campbell. "The natives once used it to counterfeit silver dollars."

"Recently a New York friend of mine went there with a $35,000 shoestring and cleaned up $700,000 in a few months. Do you blame me for figuring on going back?"

Campbell has been interested in mining in Colombia since his discharge from the Marine Corps.

AMERICA HAS COAL AVAILABLE FOR 7,000 YEARS

Chicago—The United States is in no danger of exhausting its coal supplies in the near future, for about 7,000 years' supply is available, S. M. Darling of the Bureau of Mines told the twelfth annual convention of the International Railway Fuel Association May 25. He estimates the supply of minable coal at 3,553,637,100,000 tons. Last year's consumption, he said, was 530,000,000 tons.

BEST CROPS FOR SPRING GREENS

Spinach Is Most Excellent and Should Be Found in Every Home Garden.

RICH LOAM MOST ESSENTIAL

One of Good Points About Swiss Chard Is That Leaves May Be Cut Without Injuring Plant—Dandelion and Kale Are Good.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Spinach is one of the best crops grown for greens and should be found in every home garden. In the North it may be planted in early spring, it can be planted in the fall, carried over winter.

Spinach is an easily grown crop, and there is, perhaps, of its kind that will give satisfaction. Three or four seed planted in the autumn, summer crop has been harvested, the land, will produce an abundance of greens for the average family. Spinach occupies the land in autumn and winter only, interfere with summer crops.

Spinach is an easily grown crop, and there is, perhaps, of its kind that will give satisfaction. Three or four seed planted in the autumn, summer crop has been harvested, the land, will produce an abundance of greens for the average family. Spinach occupies the land in autumn and winter only, interfere with summer crops.

Chard, or Swiss chard, which is grown for its foliage of its root. The leaves are used in very much the same as asparagus. One of the good points about this vegetable is that a crop of leaves may be cut without injuring the plant.

Chard is planted about the same time and in the same manner as the top grows larger but is given more space than the beet. The edible part of this is the root, which somewhat resembles the carrot and is used in the same manner. The leaves are used as parsley for garnishing and for soups.

New Zealand Spinach. The plant known as New Zealand spinach is not a true spinach, grows much larger and should be planted in rows 3 feet apart, the plants 12 to 18 inches apart. Some difficulty may be encountered in getting the seeds to germinate, and they should be soaked for two hours in hot water before sowing.

Swiss Chard Has Been Bred for Use for Salads Instead of Root.

New Zealand spinach is a factory for growing in warm climates as it withstands heat better than ordinary spinach. The fleshy leaves and tender stems are cooked the same as spinach.

Dandelion.

Sow the seed of dandelion in drills 18 inches apart, covering one-half inch deep. Thin the plants to about 12 inches apart and a good clean cultivation throughout summer. In the colder parts of the country it may be desirable to mulch slightly during the winter, to prevent the plants heaving out of the soil. Early the following spring the plants will be ready for use as greens, they are greatly improved if blanched by setting two boards in the form of an inverted V over the row. This blanching not only makes the leaves tender but destroys a part of the bitter taste. Dandelion greens should be boiled in two waters to remove the bitterness.

There are a large number of forms of kale, and these are thought to be some of the original type of the cabbage. Kale does not form a head, as has convoluted leaves and thick stem. It may be set in rows and cultivated the same as cabbage or may be sown broadcast, but may be set somewhat closer. This crop is very hardy and will live through the winter in the open ground in localities where freezing is not too severe. The flavor of kale is improved by frost.

Kale is used for greens during the winter and as a substitute for cabbage.

ROOST WILL DESTROY MITES

Plan Outlined for Completely Clearing Poultry House of All Thirsty

Blood-Suckers.

One successful way to rid poultry houses of mites is to use a roosting pole that will harbor them during the day, so that it can be soaked with hot water to destroy them. The roost shown provides a place on the underside where they may hide. It consists of a lath held under the roost with small nails to make the hiding place inviting for them. You simply lift the roost from the holders, slightly loosen the pieces of lath, and pour boiling water between the lath and the roosts. This will kill all vermin and destroy any eggs that may be there. The roosts will quickly dry if the water is hot.

In this way a poultry house can be completely cleared of all blood-suckers

Pundita Circle

The Pundita Circle held its last meeting of the club year on June 2nd, at the home of Mrs. C. E. Hanger near Campbell.

As the business meeting was a prolonged one, only a short informal program was given. Mrs. Warren Shelly delighted the ladies with two beautiful songs which were heartily enjoyed.

A couple of instrumental pieces were very nicely played by Miss Olive Hanger, and Mrs. L. J. Carboni also favored the ladies with a song, which closed the program.

The officers elected for the coming club year are: President, Mrs. M. E. Purmort; Vice president, Mrs. C. H. Davidson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. J. Pardee; Asst. Sec., Mrs. W. K. Miller; Treasurer, Mrs. R. B. Henry; and Mrs. Ralston Allison was appointed program chairman.

Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake, coffee, tea and waters were served by the hospitable hostess, assisted by Mrs. D. H. Cramer and Mrs. R. Alison.

Miss Esther Bourne

Miss Esther Bourne passed away Sunday, at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. D. Cutting, after a general failing, during several months. She was a native of Massachusetts, and was 69 years old, having lived here for the past 25 years. She was a member of the Congregational church, and was a faithful attendant at the services while able.

The funeral services were held at L. S. Gatos, Rev. Benj. St. John in charge. Interment was made in Los Gatos cemetery, the pall bearers being Will, Frank, Carl, Theodore and James Cutting, and E. Green.

Mrs. Jesse Hayes

Mrs. Jesse Hayes, who arrived from China, recently, passed away at a San Francisco hospital, Monday noon, from heart exhaustion, after severe illness during her trip. Her baby, two years old, was kept by Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hayes during her illness, and it will live with her parents, who have arrived from Montana, called by her illness.

Mrs. Hayes' death is a sad shock to all of the family, especially Jesse, who is left in China, and hoped to join her here later.

Gold Soaks Through Rock.

Not many years ago everyone believed in the "marine" theory of gold. In other words, gold was originally deposited in reefs by the action of sea water, and the fine, placer gold, which is the cause of all big "gold rushes," is simply gold reef washed into dust by weather and by water. The newer idea is that mineralizing solutions—carrying up gold from the depths—have risen along the planes of least resistance, and that the gold has thus been deposited in the reefs and rocks where it is found. That gold does soak through rock is proved beyond doubt. In certain old mines in Australia which were abandoned many years ago and have since been reopened, not only have the rock deposits been found to be richer than they were thirty or forty years ago, but also the old beams and timbers have been found to be impregnated with gold.

Report of The Community Nurse

The community nurse, Miss Clark, was present at the meeting of the Home and School Club, Tuesday and gave a summary of the work done here during the five months we have had a nurse. Owing to the transfer of one nurse, the accidental death of another, and several changes, the work has been interrupted considerably. However, those who heard the lists, mounting into the hundreds, of examinations of children, several of whom have had defects corrected since, the number of bedside calls made, and the many visits to give advice and instruction for the care of patients, were more thoroughly convinced, if possible, of the great benefit to our community of such a worker.

A rising vote of thanks was given for Mrs. A. H. Osborn and Mrs. I. P. Beal, who have spent many weary hours canvassing the district for subscriptions, and for Mrs. C. W. Toles and Mrs. S. N. Hedegard, who collected subscriptions and had charge of the funds.

Mrs. Beal announced that a general committee has now been secured which will have charge of the funds, and act as an advisory board. The personnel of said committee represents a wide field, and our citizens should appreciate their assuming such responsibility—Mr. T. A. Robinson, clerk of the school board; Mr. Ralston Allison, representing the business men; Dr. W. I. Merrill, local health officer; Mrs. C. H. Whitman and Mrs. I. P. Beal, representing the women of the community, and several clubs that have taken an active interest in the work.

Subscriptions for the nurse fund should be paid at the Campbell Branch of the Garden City Bank, and any who have not yet made a pledge are earnestly requested to do so, in order that the nurse may continue uninterruptedly in the field, as that will mean so much more effective work in the prevention of disease and spread of epidemics.

Consolidation Popular

The consolidation petitions circulated in Campbell and San Tomas school districts were very generally signed, with a good majority asking for such consolidation election.

The work of circulating these petitions was done by members of the Home and School club, and if anyone was overlooked, their lists from the registration were at fault. They did their work well, and the promoters of consolidation are much pleased with their success.

The readiness with which the school patrons have signed augurs well for the project, which is a big stride in the right direction. Consolidation has passed the experimental stage in many states, and proved its worth.

A special school election will soon be called to decide on the consolidation proposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Campbell went to Richmond yesterday to attend the graduation exercises of their son, Gayno Eddleman.

Mrs. Frances Swane, and Elwood, arrived home from Coalinga Saturday, Miss Mary Fablinger returning with them. Both ladies have been offered very substantial increases in salary to return next year.
